About New Pathways

New Pathways was established in Merthyr Tydfil in 1993 as a helpline for female victims of rape. At the time it was operational for only a few hours each week and it was run entirely by volunteers. Over the years New Pathways has grown and diversified and we now offer a range of counselling, advocacy and support services for women, men, children and young people.

We work in partnership with numerous statutory and voluntary agencies and we are now widely regarded throughout the UK as a leading organisation in our field. We have offices throughout south and mid Wales and we employ more than 100 staff and have more than 40 volunteers. Each year our various projects receive more than 3000 referrals from people of all ages who have been affected by rape and sexual abuse.

New Pathways is a registered charitable company that provides a range of specialist counselling and advocacy services for women, men, children and young people who have been affected by rape or sexual abuse. We have many years of experience and are widely regarded throughout the UK as a leading organisation in our field. Our clients come from every walk of life and are of all ages. To date, our youngest counselling client has been three years of age and our oldest has been in their nineties.

New Pathways manages 6 sexual assault referral centres (SARCs). These provide advocacy and support for adults and children who have experienced both recent and non-recent sexual abuse. This includes support and advocacy for reporting; forensic medical examinations, police interviews and specialist advocacy for people going through the criminal justice process. The SARCs are also able to provide help and support for self-referrals too.

New Pathways provides 1-1 counselling for adults who have experienced sexual violence. Referrals can be taken either from the person themselves or through other professionals such as GPs, Social Workers and Mental Health teams.

We provide counselling for children from 3 upwards who have experienced trauma and have therapists from various disciplines including art psychotherapists, music therapists, drama therapists, play therapists and children and young people's counsellors.

New Pathways is an organisational member of the BACP.

Details of the Tutor Team

This course is taught by experienced, practising counsellors.

The tutor for 2023 – 2024 academic year is Heather Smith an experienced tutor and counsellor.

MSc Advanced Counselling & Psychotherapy; PG Cert Clinical Supervision; Diploma in Cognitive Behavioural Therapeutic Skills & Theory; Diploma in Theory & Practice of Counselling

Heather has been qualified as a counsellor since 2008 and is accredited with the BACP. Currently working as a counsellor and clinical supervisor in her private practice, Heather has a keen interest in working with clients experiencing the menopause and has conducted research into how compassion focused interventions can support this life transition.

The internal quality assurance is led by:

Debbie Woodroffe

BA hons; PGCE; DipSW.MSc.Econ; Diploma in Counselling; Diploma in Supervision

Debbie has been qualified as a counsellor since 2000 and has worked with a variety of client groups including people affected by substance misuse, domestic abuse and sexual violence. She has over 20 years experience of teaching and training and has a special interest in trauma sensitive approaches.

Certificate in Therapeutic Counselling

This Level 2 certificate course has a credit value of 17 and 90 guided learning hours (90 GLH). The course provides a solid foundation to use helping skills in personal, professional and voluntary settings and to apply to train as a counsellor. The course is validated by the Counselling and Psychotherapy Central Awarding Body (CPCAB). Their details can be found at www.cpcab.co.uk. All candidates will be registered with CPCAB, by New Pathways, within six weeks of the course commencing. This is a one-year course.

Dates and location of sessions

Term days will be as follows:

Start Date: 12th September 2023. Time: from 5.30pm-8.30pm online.

Term	Dates
Autumn	12 th September 23 – 12 th December 23 Half Term – 30 th October- 3 rd November
Spring	9 th January 24 – 19 th March 24 Half term -12 th -16 th February
Summer	9 th April 24 –11 th June 24 Half Term- 27 th May- 31 st May

All sessions will be taught online.

Sessions take place on Zoom. You will be sent an invitation prior to the course commencing. You will need access to a laptop or computer with a camera function. Although support is available, a reasonable level of computer skills are necessary to successfully complete this course.

The CSK-L2 qualification is one step in a series of CPCAB qualifications. Once the candidate has completed this qualification they can continue training to become a counsellor by doing CPCAB Level 3 Certificate in Counselling Studies (CST-L3) or move into the area of life coaching by doing the Level 3 Certificate in Life Coaching Studies (LCS-L3).

Students will also be expected to spend a minimum of 2 hours per week, outside of class-based hours, preparing for sessions, reflecting, reading, writing journals, completing assignments etc.

Students will be expected to have a minimum of 80% attendance record.

Candidate entry requirements

Candidates must be at least 19 years old.

In order to apply for this qualification completed application forms should be returned to:

training@newpathways.org.uk

Fees

This course costs £799.00 inclusive of the CPCAB registration fee. Fees can be paid termly or monthly. There is a £50.00 deposit that needs to be paid within one month of being offered a place on the course. The email address for correspondence about finance is finance@newpathways.org.uk

Where exam re-sits are required an additional fee will be incurred.

Qualification structure

This qualification is designed to give learners the underpinning knowledge, skills and competencies to use counselling skills ethically and safely in a variety of contexts and roles.

This qualification is for:

- Those starting the first level of training as a professional counsellor
- Those who want to learn counselling skills in other professional or helping roles
- Those who want to improve their professional and personal relationships as part of personal development.

This qualification will not teach candidates how to be counsellors but it will help them decide whether or not they want to train as a counsellor and it will give them counselling skills that are useful in a variety of roles e.g. care assistant, key worker, support worker.

The course aims to ensure candidates have a sound theoretical understanding whilst also acquiring and developing practical counselling skills. The weekly sessions will include theory / knowledge-based activities in addition to activities which focuses on skills and professional considerations. There will also be regular counselling practice with time for feedback and reflection.

Attendance requirements

Candidates must have an attendance of at least 80% for the course.

Equal opportunities

New Pathways is committed to equal opportunities in all areas of its work. Therefore, we welcome applications from all sections of the adult population. Difference and diversity, and the importance of a non-discriminatory approach and how these are important to counselling activity will be explored in the course.

Candidates are asked to register any special requirements, regarding provision and accessibility, when they enrol on the course. Candidates' personal tutors will work to support candidates' specific requirements throughout the course. Where appropriate, tutors will support candidates in applications to CPCAB for reasonable adjustments and special consideration. Special arrangements that are available on request from CPCAB include large-font external assessment papers, additional time for individual needs, braille papers and/or subtitles on assessment films. External assessment papers are produced in a font that is helpful to dyslexics.

Data Protection

Privacy Notice: Some of the information you supply will be used by:

- CPCAB (the awarding organisation associated with your course) will upload candidates achievement data to the Learning Record Service, who then in turn will update the candidates personal learning records.
- The Learning Records Service to fulfil its statutory functions, issue/verify your Unique Learner Number (ULN) and update/check your Personal Learning Record. The Learning Records Service may share your ULN and Personal Learning Record with other education related organisations, such as your careers service, school, college, university, Government Departments and public bodies responsible for funding your education. Useful guidance from the Skills Funding Agency (now known as the Education & Skills Funding Agency or ESFA) can be found at: <https://www.gov.uk/government/organisations/education-and-skills-funding-agency>

Additionally, in accordance with the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR), New Pathways has implemented a privacy notice to inform our training contacts of the type of data we process about them. A copy of the Privacy Notice is contained in Appendix 4.

Course objectives

This course has been developed in order to give candidates the knowledge, skills and competencies to work as a helper in a variety of settings and the opportunity to decide whether full counselling training is right for them.

Internal assessment requirements

Tutor assessment of candidate portfolio evidencing minimum assessment requirements and verified by CPCAB.

Internal Assessments and Deadlines

	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Learning review (throughout the programme) • 2 tutor-observed counselling skills practice sessions (1 via audio/video recording) • Testimony of Peer/‘helpee’ feedback Portfolio must include two pieces of evidence for each criterion. Candidate Learning Record must reference documents, tutor observation and testimony for each of the seven course units.

This assignment must be submitted with a fully completed Criteria Assessment Sheet attached. Marked work will be returned with a completed Assignment Feedback Sheet.

External assessment requirements

The external assessment will take place during a one- week window. Candidates will have one week at home to answer 5 two-part questions based on what they have studied, which will be assessed by CPCAB.

The window for external assessment is 11.2.24 – 24.3.24

To be awarded a Certificate in Counselling Skills, all candidates will need to have met all criteria required and passed the external assessment.

Tutorials and pastoral support

At the beginning of the course candidates are given details of the support that is available to them. The course tutor will act as candidates’ personal tutor. The tutor will provide regular verbal and written feedback each term in order to ensure that adequate academic and pastoral support is provided and that satisfactory progress is being made to ensure the successful completion of the course. Where necessary, additional support may be provided.

All candidates are encouraged to keep their tutors informed of any difficulties they are encountering which may impact on their ability to complete the course requirements.

Student expectations for learning and development

We expect students to have an 80% attendance rate, any absences must be discussed with your tutor, as part of regular tutorials and reviews attendance will be discussed.

We expect our students to attend the for the duration of the sessions, except in exceptional circumstances. Should you be unable to stay for the whole session then this time will be taken from your 80% attendance.

As part of the CPCAB structure and portfolio components peer feedback is essential and this includes written and verbal feedback for peers. This written feedback from your peers' forms part of your evidence of criteria for meeting standards and therefore is an essential part of the course.

Students are expected to hand work in on time, all timings will be given to the students at the start of the course during initial set up and dates of assignments and portfolios will be given. Tutors will hand all work back within one month of submission, therefore late submissions (that have been accepted in exceptional circumstances) will be marked one month from submission date.

Whilst the New Pathways Counselling College and its tutors are willing to give you every support, we can to help you complete the course, failure to comply with the course expectations, may result in being asked to leave the course.

Internal moderation and verification arrangements

A minimum sample of 25% of candidates' internally assessed work will be cross marked in order to ensure that the assessment decisions made are reliable, consistent and fair. Assessed work will then be internally verified by the Internal Quality Assurer to ensure that assessment decisions from all tutors are to the same standards and marking schemes have been consistently applied. The internal quality assurer works alongside the whole teaching team, as per CPCAB guidelines to develop and maintain good assessment procedures and facilitate good practice. An external verifier from CPCAB will then visit to externally verify the assessment decisions. In this way, New Pathways believes that the quality and consistency of all assessment can be assured and that the CPCAB qualifications are being delivered, by New Pathways, to a common national standard.

A copy of New Pathways' internal quality assurance procedures is in Appendix 5.

Details of process for appeals and complaints against assessment / learning experience

Any candidate wishing to appeal against an assessment decision or complain about a learning experience is encouraged to speak to their personal tutor and refer to New Pathways policies and procedures:

- New Pathways Appeals procedure for candidates
- New Pathways complaints procedure

Copies of these policies are included in Appendix 1 and Appendix 2.

Details of malpractice / maladministration policy

New Pathways is committed to ensuring the best possible learning experience for all candidates. New Pathways takes any suggestion of malpractice or maladministration very seriously and will investigate any allegation promptly and thoroughly. A copy of New Pathways Malpractice and Maladministration policy is included in Appendix 3. Please also refer to CPCAB's policy on malpractice: https://www.cpcab.co.uk/public_docs/malpractice_maladministration

APPEALS PROCEDURE FOR CANDIDATES POLICY

An appeal is a procedure through which a Centre may be challenged on the outcome of an enquiry about results or, where appropriate, other procedural decisions affecting an individual candidate.

Any learner may appeal to New Pathways against an internal assessment decision. Appeals against external assessment decisions must be made in accordance with CPCAB's own policy. A copy is available on the CPCAB website.

Any learner wishing to make an appeal should complete an Appeal Form and return it to the Course Leader.

The learner will receive confirmation that the Appeal Form has been received. The confirmation will inform the learner of the likely timeframe of the appeal process.

Where possible, appeals will be dealt with within 3 weeks of receipt of the appeal. Where this is not possible the reason for the delay will be given to the learner and a deadline will be given to the learner.

An internal verifier will examine the assessment of the learner's work to review how the tutor came to their decision regarding the learner's work. The internal verifier will make a decision about the validity and reliability of the assessment decision.

The appeals process does not include a review of the learner's work.

The internal verifier will report to the Internal Quality Assurer regarding the appeal, in writing. This report will include a recommendation about whether the appeal should be upheld. The Internal Quality Assurer will contact the learner to feed back regarding the process and the outcome of the appeal.

All documentation regarding the initial appeal, copies of the learner's work, the initial assessment, the internal verifier's conclusions and the Internal Quality Assurer's communications with the learner are to be held on record for a period of six months following the conclusion of the appeal process.

The Internal Quality Assurer should inform the learner of their options should their appeal not be upheld and the assessment decision reversed. This involves referral to New Pathways' CEO.

This policy will be reviewed annually.

New Pathways – Appeals Form

This form is to be used to appeal against an assessment decision. Please use in conjunction with New Pathways' Complaints procedure and Appeals procedure.

Please complete this form as fully as possible and return to the Course Leader.

Learner Name: _____

Tutor Name: _____

Course: _____

Please describe the reason for your appeal:

COMPLAINTS PROCEDURE

New Pathways is committed to providing the highest quality of service to all of our clients and learners. If a client or learner is not satisfied with the quality of the service provided, they have the right to complain. We will respond to all complaints promptly and in a fair and confidential manner. However, there may be occasions when New Pathways may be required to disclose the details of a complaint to a third party. Complainants will be advised where this is necessary.

Complaints give us an opportunity to improve our service. New Pathways will monitor complaints and the outcomes in order to improve the quality of service provision.

We will ensure that no client or learner will, in any way, be disadvantaged as a result of making a complaint.

To allow us to fully and fairly investigate a complaint, we would expect the client or learner to make us aware of the cause of the complaint within three months of the issue arising.

SCOPE

This policy and procedure applies to complaints arising from all New Pathways training services.

It should not be used to remedy day to day operational matters that typically should be resolved through less formal procedures.

PROCEDURE FOR IMPLEMENTATION

Where a learner has a complaint they should, in the first instance, seek to resolve the issues directly with a member of staff. The member of staff will inform the Course Leader of the complaint.

If the issue has not been resolved to the client / learner's satisfaction, they can make a formal complaint. The complaint may be made in writing or by email and should be addressed to the Deputy Chief Executive of New Pathways. The client / learner must supply their name and address for all communication.

The client / learner will receive an acknowledgement of the formal complaint within 5 working days of it being received by the Deputy Chief Executive.

The Deputy Chief Executive will investigate the complaint and report findings within 15 working days or request an extension to this period, providing reasons why this is necessary.

The Deputy Chief Executive will respond to the client or learner within a further 5 working days and will indicate what action has been taken, or is proposed, to resolve the complaint, or if the complaint is not upheld, the reasons for that decision. Where an investigation extends beyond twenty working days the Deputy Chief Executive will inform the client / learner in writing of the expected completion date.

If the client or learner is not satisfied with the outcome, they can appeal the decision by writing to the Chief Executive.

The appeal must be lodged in writing no later than 10 working days after the initial outcome has been received by the client.

The client or learner will receive an acknowledgement of the appeal within 5 working days of it being received by the Chief Executive.

The Chief Executive will investigate the appeal and will inform the client or learner of the outcomes of the appeal within twenty working days from the date of acknowledgement.

Where an appeal extends beyond twenty working days the Chief Executive will inform the client or learner in writing of the expected completion date.

The decision of the Chief Executive is final and binding

In all cases the documentary evidence gathered and stored will remain confidential to those involved.

This policy will be reviewed annually.

MALPRACTICE PROCEDURE

For the purpose of this policy, malpractice is defined as deliberate corrupt, illegal or unethical professional behaviour or neglect of professional duties which adversely affects the integrity of a qualification and results in not complying with the regulatory requirements for the delivery of the qualifications.

For the purpose of this policy, maladministration is defined as ineffective management, lack of care, poor judgement, dishonesty, neglect, inattention and or incompetence. The behaviour may be unintentional but it adversely affects the integrity of a qualification or award of credit and results in not complying with the regulatory requirements for the delivery of the qualifications.

Malpractice and maladministration may be perpetrated by learners, centre staff or anyone else involved in the delivery of the qualification. Allegations of malpractice will be investigated in a fair, reasonable and legal manner, ensuring that all relevant evidence is considered without bias.

Malpractice and maladministration compromise, or could compromise:

- the assessment process;
- the integrity of a regulated qualification;
- the validity of a result or certificate;
- the reputation and credibility CPCAB;
- the qualification or the wider qualifications community.

Examples of malpractice and maladministration include, but are not limited to:

- failure to follow New Pathways' policies and procedures
- incorrect action or failure to take any required action
- failure to provide information or providing false information;
- inadequate record-keeping;
- failure to investigate or deal with an identified issue within required timescales;
- denial of access to resources
- misleading or inaccurate statements relating to qualifications
- fraudulent claim for certificates
- plagiarism of any nature by learners
- collusion
- tampering of results or forgery of evidence
- bias/prejudice in assessment
- abuse of AIV status

Malpractice may be identified by New Pathways as a result of quality assurance monitoring, complaints from learners or centre staff, CPCAB staff, or any other credible source.

In all cases of alleged, suspected or actual malpractice:

The Course Leader and Internal Quality Assurer must be informed immediately.

The Internal Quality Assurer must inform CPCAB of the circumstances.

The Internal Quality Assurer will consider the circumstances, gather key evidence and produce a written report with conclusions about whether any irregularities occurred within 30 days.

All records relating to alleged, suspected or actual malpractice must be made available. The Internal Quality Assurer is responsible for the storing of information appropriately to avoid any breach of confidentiality.

All written records and documents relating to the incident will be kept securely for an appropriate period of time to allow for subsequent appeals and / or legal challenge.

The final written report will be submitted to CPCAB for deliberation.

Where learner malpractice is alleged, suspected or observed:

Where necessary, advice will be sought from CPCAB staff

Where centre staff malpractice is alleged, suspected or observed:

Where necessary, advice will be sought from CPCAB staff

Sanctions will be imposed according to the severity of the incident and following consultation with the CEO.

Where appropriate, staff will be required to attend additional training and development.

This policy is reviewed annually.

INTERNAL QUALITY ASSURANCE PROCEDURES – CPCAB Qualifications.

New Pathways recognises the importance of internal moderation and verification as an intrinsic part of their internal quality assurance process which ensures that qualifications are delivered according to CPCAB guidelines and to a common national standard.

New Pathways aims to apply good practice in internal quality assurance procedures at every stage of the planning, delivery, assessment and verification of a qualification. New Pathways is committed to providing a high-quality educational experience for all learners and the internal quality assurance procedures ensure that learners can feel confident about the standard of training that they will receive through New Pathways.

Internal quality assurance is an opportunity to identify areas for improvement, ensure consistency and further develop areas of strength.

The Internal Quality Assurer will work with the tutors and the course manager to develop and maintain assessment procedures and facilitate good practice. The Internal Quality Assurer will have a recognised IQA qualification but does not need to be a practising counsellor or subject specialist.

A minimum sample of 25% of the class group's internal assessments will be double marked by appropriately qualified and subject specialist tutors.

Each tutor will complete the normal feedback sheet and the results will be discussed between tutors before the work is returned to candidates. This process of internal moderation will ensure that assessment decisions are reliable, consistent and fair and to a national benchmark. The internal moderation process also ensures that the qualification requirements have been understood and the candidate has been given accurate and appropriate feedback.

The internal moderation process may include:

- Commenting on the standard and consistency of the assessment

- Reading and evaluating assessor's feedback to the candidate.
- Evaluating the tone of the feedback, looking for acknowledgement and support for the candidates.
- Ensuring that the assessor has given specific feedback to ensure the candidate knows what they have to do to meet the learning outcomes.

Centre proformas are used to facilitate all moderation and internal IQA processes.

STUDENT CODE OF CONDUCT POLICY

INTRODUCTION

New Pathways are committed to providing quality of standards for the Counselling College experience for students, supporting equality, diversity, and inclusion. New Pathways Counselling College is committed to building a supportive environment for students, with a sense of student community, including through online platforms.

The code of conduct applies to students studying with the New Pathways Counselling College, this includes students who will be working on professional placements and work-based learning environments. This will also include any students who have been given bursaries or grants to fulfill study at New Pathways including in-house staff who may be learning through the counselling college.

In applying this Code, New Pathways Counselling College seeks to comply with all relevant legislation promoting privacy, equality of opportunity and anti-discrimination.

STUDENT CODE OF CONDUCT

1. Students must observe and follow guidance provided in all other New Pathways policies and procedures relating to the counselling college and placement, these can be found in appendices within the college handbooks and accessed during initial induction. This includes observing the placement policy and ensuring professional and ethical practice when on placement (please see placement policy).
2. All students are expected to be considerate of their fellow learners, visitors, and staff/tutors.
3. Students are to be mindful of other participants and differing learning needs and styles and communication modes and recognise how their individual behavior can impact other students and staff.
4. Students are expected to use all forms of spoken, written and digital communication, this would include digital media and communicating professionally and mindfully when also participating within online platforms. We offer extra support if needed with this.

5. New Pathways is not responsible for social media communication between students and would never pass on contact information of students without consent. Therefore, if students decide to create platforms of communication such as WhatsApp groups etc. between students this communication is not monitored by New Pathways and is at your own discretion and is the student's own responsibility.
6. New Pathways Counselling College has a duty of care to its staff and students and must be therefore informed and act upon any alleged criminal activity by its students. Failure to do so may be regarded as misconduct.
7. Students are expected to respect New Pathways properties and learning environments, and damage to property will not be acceptable. New Pathways expects all students to be mindful of the environment and this also includes unauthorised taking, or use of the property. Students must respect environments where New Pathways buildings accommodate clients and therefore professional conduct; being respectful of quiet areas (due to counselling or SARCs) which need to be adhered to. New Pathways buildings are all non-smoking premises, and this must be always adhered to.
8. Students are expected to attend 80% of their course content and must submit assignments in the expected time limit (unless mitigating circumstances have been approved). Students are expected to engage in activities such as peer feedback reviews and write up of these. Students must stay within word count parameters (see handbook).
9. Students are to follow the New Pathways whistleblowing process if they have any concerns about peers, staff or organisations.
10. New Pathways Counselling College is committed to giving every support to help students complete their designated course, however failure to comply with the course expectations may result in being asked to leave the course.
