About New Pathways

New Pathways was established in Merthyr Tydfil in 1993 as a helpline for female victims of rape. At the time it was operational for only a few hours each week and it was run entirely by volunteers. Over the years New Pathways has grown and diversified and we now offer a range of counselling, advocacy and support services for women, men, children and young people.

We work in partnership with numerous statutory and voluntary agencies and we are now widely regarded throughout the UK as a leading organisation in our field. We have offices throughout south and mid Wales and we employ more than 100 staff and have more than 40 volunteers. Each year our various projects receive more than 3000 referrals from people of all ages who have been affected by rape and sexual abuse.

New Pathways is a registered charitable company that provides a range of specialist counselling and advocacy services for women, men, children and young people who have been affected by rape or sexual abuse. We have many years of experience and are widely regarded throughout the UK as a leading organisation in our field. Our clients come from every walk of life and are of all ages. To date, our youngest counselling client has been three years of age and our oldest has been in their nineties.

New Pathways manages 6 sexual assault referral centres (SARCs). These provide advocacy and support for adults and children who have experienced both recent and non-recent sexual abuse. This includes support and advocacy for reporting; forensic medical examinations, police interviews and specialist advocacy for people going through the criminal justice process. The SARCs are also able to provide help and support for self-referrals too.

New Pathways provides 1-1 counselling for adults who have experienced sexual violence. Referrals can be taken either from the person themselves or through other professionals such as GPs, Social Workers and Mental Health teams.

We provide counselling for children from 3 upwards who have experienced trauma and have therapists from various disciplines including art psychotherapists, music therapists, drama therapists, play therapists and children and young people's counsellors.

New Pathways is an organisational member of the BACP.

Details of the Tutor Team

This course is taught by experienced, practising counsellors. The tutor for 2023-2024 academic year is Ana Machado an experienced counsellor and lecturer at universities.

Ana has been qualified as a counsellor since 2020 and has been working in private practice since then. She had training in Bereavement, helping people dealing with loss, as a volunteer for Cruse Bereavement Care. She has been teaching different Levels of Counselling since 2019.

The internal quality assurance is led by:

Debbie Woodroffe

BA hons; PGCE; DipSW.MSc.Econ; Diploma in Counselling; Diploma in Supervision

Debbie has been qualified as a counsellor since 2000 and has worked with a variety of client groups including people affected by substance misuse, domestic abuse and sexual violence. She has over 20 years experience of teaching and training and has a special interest in trauma sensitive approaches.

Certificate in Counselling Studies

This qualification is intended for candidates who have already acquired a recognised qualification in counselling skills and want to:

- take the next step in training to become a counsellor
- learn more about counselling theory, ethics and mental health
- be prepared for work as a professional counsellor in an agency setting

This qualification does not lead to employment. It is designed as a pre-practitioner training for professional counselling qualifications but it could also lead to employment in a related field.

Start Date: 14th September 2023 . Time: from 5.30pm-8.30pm online.

Term days will be as follows:

Term	Dates
Autumn	14 th September 23 – 14 th December 23 Half Term – 30 th October- 3 rd November
Spring	11 th January 24 – 21 st March 24 Half term -12 th -16 th February
Summer	11th April 24 –13th June 24 Half Term- 27th May- 31st May

All sessions will be taught online.

Sessions take place on Zoom. You will be sent an invitation prior to the course commencing. You will need access to a laptop or computer with a camera function. Although support is available, a reasonable level of computer skills are necessary to successfully complete this course.

The CSK-L3 qualification is one step in a series of CPCAB qualifications. Once the candidate has completed this qualification they can continue training to become a counsellor by doing CPCAB Level 4 Diploma in Therapeutic Counselling (TC-L4).

Students will also be expected to spend a minimum of 3 hours per week, outside of class-based hours, preparing for sessions, reflecting, reading, writing journals, completing assignments etc. Students will be expected to have a minimum of 80% attendance record.

Candidate entry requirements

Candidates must be at least 19 years old.

This qualification is not suitable for those who are currently in a state of severe emotional difficulty and/or severe psychological distress. The course involves experiential elements that will involve some personal disclosure and associated personal developmental activities.

CPCAB Level 2 Certificate in Counselling Skills (CSK-L2) or the Recognised Prior Learning (RPL) equivalent of at least 75 GLH.

In order to apply for this qualification completed application forms should be returned to:

training@newpathways.org.uk

Fees

This course costs £899.00 inclusive of the CPCAB registration fee. Fees can be paid termly or monthly. There is a £50.00 deposit that needs to be paid within one month of being offered a place on the course. The email address for correspondence about finance is finance@newpathways.org.uk

Where exam re-sits are required an additional fee will be incurred.

Qualification structure

The qualification is made up of 7 mandatory units, each of which has learning outcomes and assessment criteria. This structure is based on the 7 processes of the CPCAB's Model. All of the qualification information – including the minimum assessment requirements – is contained in the CST-L3 Specification.

To achieve the qualification candidates must be (a) internally assessed by the tutor as Proficient in all 7 learning outcomes and (b) externally assessed by CPCAB as Proficient.

Activities during sessions might include:

- Practical exercises and role play, often in groups of three: 'counsellor', 'client' and observer.
- An exploration of diversity and difference.
- Learning how to manage stages in the counselling relationship.
- Making a practice "case presentation" (talking about, for example, your experience of a counselling practice session).
- Engaging in simulated group training supervision.
- Exploring the limitations of counselling in relation to client expectation ... given a range of different agency settings (e.g. rehab centre, GP surgery, drop-in centre).
- Developing your ability to give verbal feedback to peers at the end of counselling practice sessions.
- Taking part in group work and discussions.

Self-directed study time includes:

- A weekly, reflective journal.
- Written assignments (e.g. an essay and a case study).
- Your homework might optionally also include such things as:

- Researching into the policies and procedures of a range of different counselling agencies.
- Doing some further reading.

Attendance requirements

Candidates must have an attendance of at least 80% for the course.

Equal opportunities

New Pathways is committed to equal opportunities in all areas of its work. Therefore, we welcome applications from all sections of the adult population. Difference and diversity, and the importance of a non-discriminatory approach and how these are important to counselling activity will be explored in the course.

Candidates are asked to register any special requirements, regarding provision and accessibility, when they enrol on the course. Candidates' personal tutors will work to support candidates' specific requirements throughout the course. Where appropriate, tutors will support candidates in applications to CPCAB for reasonable adjustments and special consideration. Special arrangements that are available on request from CPCAB include large-font external assessment papers, additional time for individual needs, braille papers and/or subtitles on assessment films. External assessment papers are produced in a font that is helpful to dyslexics.

Data Protection

Privacy Notice: Some of the information you supply will be used by:

- CPCAB (the awarding organisation associated with your course) will upload candidates achievement data to the Learning Record Service, who then in turn will update the candidates personal learning records.
- The Learning Records Service to fulfil its statutory functions, issue/verify your Unique Learner Number (ULN) and update/check your Personal Learning Record. The Learning Records Service may share your ULN and Personal Learning Record with other education related organisations, such as your careers service, school, college, university, Government Departments and public bodies responsible for funding your education. Useful guidance from the Skills Funding Agency (now known as the Education & Skills Funding Agency or ESFA) can be found at:

<https://www.gov.uk/government/organisations/education-and-skills-funding-agency>

Additionally, in accordance with the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR), New Pathways has implemented a privacy notice to inform our training contacts of the type of data we process about them. A copy of the Privacy Notice is contained in Appendix 4.

Course objectives

The main purpose is to prepare students for work (as trainee counsellors) in an agency setting. This includes:

- Preparing to work within an ethical framework for counselling.
- Understanding the counselling relationship.
- Understanding theories of counselling and mental health.
- Developing self-awareness in counselling practice.
- Developing enhanced therapeutic skills in practice sessions.

Internal assessment requirements

Tutor assessment of candidate portfolio evidencing minimum assessment requirements and verified by CPCAB.

Candidates must also complete 10 hours of group training supervision.

MARKING SCHEME
Internal assessment:	Candidates must achieve all seven learning outcomes of the qualification.
External assessment:	Candidates must achieve 4 out of 6 marks to be assessed as Proficient.

⁶ Proforma and guide sheets for internal assessment can be downloaded from the CPCAB website.

⁷ Suggested assignments are available on the CPCAB website.

⁸ Self-evaluation of learning, goals, progress, learning needs and completion of the learning tasks (criteria).

⁹ This is an on-going review of learning during the course (also called a “learning journal”).

¹⁰ For example, case presentation to training supervision group.

¹¹ Testimony can include tutorial records and direct questioning.

¹² Mock candidate feedback papers and practice DVDs will be made available to centres. External assessment takes place when at least two-thirds of the course has been completed.

Minimum Assessment Requirements

Tutorials and pastoral support

At the beginning of the course candidates are given details of the support that is available to them. The course tutor will act as candidates' personal tutor. The tutor will provide regular verbal and written feedback each term in order to ensure that adequate academic and pastoral support is provided and that satisfactory progress is being made to ensure the successful completion of the course. Where necessary, additional support may be provided.

All candidates are encouraged to keep their tutors informed of any difficulties they are encountering which may impact on their ability to complete the course requirements.

Student expectations for learning and development

We expect students to have an 80% attendance rate, any absences must be discussed with your tutor, as part of regular tutorials and reviews attendance will be discussed.

We expect our students to attend the for the duration of the sessions, except in exceptional circumstances. Should you be unable to stay for the whole session then this time will be taken from your 80% attendance.

As part of the CPCAB structure and portfolio components peer feedback is essential and this includes written and verbal feedback for peers. This written feedback from your peers' forms part of your evidence of criteria for meeting standards and therefore is an essential part of the course.

Students are expected to hand work in on time, all timings will be given to the students at the start of the course during initial set up and dates of assignments and portfolios will be given. Tutors will hand all work back within one month of submission, therefore late submissions (that have been accepted in exceptional circumstances) will be marked one month from submission date.

Whilst the New Pathways Counselling College and its tutors are willing to give you every support, we can to help you complete the course, failure to comply with the course expectations, may result in being asked to leave the course.

Assignments must be submitted with a header with student name and date identified. Word counts must be adhered to; a standard 10% over and under is offered, however, if students go over or under the word count by more than this, tutors can fail the assignment or ask the student to resubmit (if submission therefore goes beyond the deadline a student can only be offered 40% for their assignment).

Please also see Appendix 5. for Student Code of Conduct.

Internal moderation and verification arrangements

A minimum sample of 25% of candidates' internally assessed work will be cross marked in order to ensure that the assessment decisions made are reliable, consistent and fair. Assessed work will then be internally verified by the Internal Quality Assurer to ensure that assessment decisions from all tutors are to the same standards and marking schemes have been consistently applied. The internal quality assurer works alongside the whole teaching team, as per CPCAB guidelines to develop and maintain good assessment procedures and facilitate good practice. An external verifier from CPCAB will then visit to externally verify the assessment decisions. In this way, New Pathways believes that the quality and consistency of all assessment can be assured and that the CPCAB qualifications are being delivered, by New Pathways, to a common national standard.

A copy of New Pathways' internal quality assurance procedures is in Appendix 5.

Details of process for appeals and complaints against assessment / learning experience

Any candidate wishing to appeal against an assessment decision or complain about a learning experience is encouraged to speak to their personal tutor and refer to New Pathways policies and procedures:

- New Pathways Appeals procedure for candidates
- New Pathways complaints procedure

Copies of these policies are included in Appendix 1 and Appendix 2.

Details of malpractice / maladministration policy

New Pathways is committed to ensuring the best possible learning experience for all candidates. New Pathways takes any suggestion of malpractice or maladministration very seriously and will investigate any allegation promptly and thoroughly. A copy of New Pathways Malpractice and Maladministration policy is included in Appendix 3. Please also refer to CPCAB's policy on malpractice: https://www.cpcab.co.uk/public_docs/malpractice_maladministration

Suggested reading

Candidates may wish to read further to support their theoretical and practical knowledge of counselling. The following text has been written by CPCAB to support students who are studying the CSKL3 qualification and students may find it useful to refer to a copy:

Progression opportunities

The successful completion of the Level 3 Certificate in Counselling Studies allows candidates to apply to continue onto a Level 4 Diploma in Therapeutic Counselling. New Pathways offers a Level 4 Diploma in Counselling, which may be appropriate for any candidates wishing to develop the specialist skills, knowledge and understanding required to work appropriately with clients who require counselling in an agency setting.

APPEALS PROCEDURE FOR CANDIDATES POLICY

An appeal is a procedure through which a Centre may be challenged on the outcome of an enquiry about results or, where appropriate, other procedural decisions affecting an individual candidate.

Any learner may appeal to New Pathways against an internal assessment decision. Appeals against external assessment decisions must be made in accordance with CPCAB's own policy. A copy is available on the CPCAB website.

Any learner wishing to make an appeal should complete an Appeal Form and return it to the Course Leader.

The learner will receive confirmation that the Appeal Form has been received. The confirmation will inform the learner of the likely timeframe of the appeal process.

Where possible, appeals will be dealt with within 3 weeks of receipt of the appeal. Where this is not possible the reason for the delay will be given to the learner and a deadline will be given to the learner.

An internal verifier will examine the assessment of the learner's work to review how the tutor came to their decision regarding the learner's work. The internal verifier will make a decision about the validity and reliability of the assessment decision.

The appeals process does not include a review of the learner's work.

The internal verifier will report to the Internal Quality Assurer regarding the appeal, in writing. This report will include a recommendation about whether the appeal should be upheld. The Internal Quality Assurer will contact the learner to feed back regarding the process and the outcome of the appeal.

All documentation regarding the initial appeal, copies of the learner's work, the initial assessment, the internal verifier's conclusions and the Internal Quality Assurer's communications with the learner are to be held on record for a period of six months following the conclusion of the appeal process.

The Internal Quality Assurer should inform the learner of their options should their appeal not be upheld and the assessment decision reversed. This involves referral to New Pathways' CEO.

This policy will be reviewed annually.

New Pathways – Appeals Form

This form is to be used to appeal against an assessment decision. Please use in conjunction with New Pathways' Complaints procedure and Appeals procedure.

Please complete this form as fully as possible and return to the Course Leader.

Learner Name: _____

Tutor Name: _____

Course: _____

Please describe the reason for your appeal:

COMPLAINTS PROCEDURE

New Pathways is committed to providing the highest quality of service to all of our clients and learners. If a client or learner is not satisfied with the quality of the service provided, they have the right to complain. We will respond to all complaints promptly and in a fair and confidential manner. However, there may be occasions when New Pathways may be required to disclose the details of a complaint to a third party. Complainants will be advised where this is necessary.

Complaints give us an opportunity to improve our service. New Pathways will monitor complaints and the outcomes in order to improve the quality of service provision.

We will ensure that no client or learner will, in any way, be disadvantaged as a result of making a complaint.

To allow us to fully and fairly investigate a complaint, we would expect the client or learner to make us aware of the cause of the complaint within three months of the issue arising.

SCOPE

This policy and procedure applies to complaints arising from all New Pathways training services.

It should not be used to remedy day to day operational matters that typically should be resolved through less formal procedures.

PROCEDURE FOR IMPLEMENTATION

Where a learner has a complaint they should, in the first instance, seek to resolve the issues directly with a member of staff. The member of staff will inform the Course Leader of the complaint.

If the issue has not been resolved to the client / learner's satisfaction, they can make a formal complaint. The complaint may be made in writing or by email and should be addressed to the Deputy Chief Executive of New Pathways. The client / learner must supply their name and address for all communication.

The client / learner will receive an acknowledgement of the formal complaint within 5 working days of it being received by the Deputy Chief Executive.

The Deputy Chief Executive will investigate the complaint and report findings within 15 working days or request an extension to this period, providing reasons why this is necessary.

The Deputy Chief Executive will respond to the client or learner within a further 5 working days and will indicate what action has been taken, or is proposed, to resolve the complaint, or if the complaint is not upheld, the reasons for that decision. Where an investigation extends beyond twenty working days the Deputy Chief Executive will inform the client / learner in writing of the expected completion date.

If the client or learner is not satisfied with the outcome, they can appeal the decision by writing to the Chief Executive.

The appeal must be lodged in writing no later than 10 working days after the initial outcome has been received by the client.

The client or learner will receive an acknowledgement of the appeal within 5 working days of it being received by the Chief Executive.

The Chief Executive will investigate the appeal and will inform the client or learner of the outcomes of the appeal within twenty working days from the date of acknowledgement.

Where an appeal extends beyond twenty working days the Chief Executive will inform the client or learner in writing of the expected completion date.

The decision of the Chief Executive is final and binding

In all cases the documentary evidence gathered and stored will remain confidential to those involved.

This policy will be reviewed annually.

MALPRACTICE PROCEDURE

For the purpose of this policy, malpractice is defined as deliberate corrupt, illegal or unethical professional behaviour or neglect of professional duties which adversely affects the integrity of a qualification and results in not complying with the regulatory requirements for the delivery of the qualifications.

For the purpose of this policy, maladministration is defined as ineffective management, lack of care, poor judgement, dishonesty, neglect, inattention and or incompetence. The behaviour may be unintentional but it adversely affects the integrity of a qualification or award of credit and results in not complying with the regulatory requirements for the delivery of the qualifications.

Malpractice and maladministration may be perpetrated by learners, centre staff or anyone else involved in the delivery of the qualification. Allegations of malpractice will be investigated in a fair, reasonable and legal manner, ensuring that all relevant evidence is considered without bias.

Malpractice and maladministration compromise, or could compromise:

- the assessment process;
- the integrity of a regulated qualification;
- the validity of a result or certificate;
- the reputation and credibility CPCAB;
- the qualification or the wider qualifications community.

Examples of malpractice and maladministration include, but are not limited to:

- failure to follow New Pathways' policies and procedures
- incorrect action or failure to take any required action
- failure to provide information or providing false information;
- inadequate record-keeping;
- failure to investigate or deal with an identified issue within required timescales;
- denial of access to resources
- misleading or inaccurate statements relating to qualifications
- fraudulent claim for certificates
- plagiarism of any nature by learners
- collusion
- tampering of results or forgery of evidence
- bias/prejudice in assessment
- abuse of AIV status

Malpractice may be identified by New Pathways as a result of quality assurance monitoring, complaints from learners or centre staff, CPCAB staff, or any other credible source.

In all cases of alleged, suspected or actual malpractice:

The Course Leader and Internal Quality Assurer must be informed immediately.

The Internal Quality Assurer must inform CPCAB of the circumstances.

The Internal Quality Assurer will consider the circumstances, gather key evidence and produce a written report with conclusions about whether any irregularities occurred within 30 days.

All records relating to alleged, suspected or actual malpractice must be made available. The Internal Quality Assurer is responsible for the storing of information appropriately to avoid any breach of confidentiality.

All written records and documents relating to the incident will be kept securely for an appropriate period of time to allow for subsequent appeals and / or legal challenge.

The final written report will be submitted to CPCAB for deliberation.

Where learner malpractice is alleged, suspected or observed:

Where necessary, advice will be sought from CPCAB staff

Where centre staff malpractice is alleged, suspected or observed:

Where necessary, advice will be sought from CPCAB staff

Sanctions will be imposed according to the severity of the incident and following consultation with the CEO.

Where appropriate, staff will be required to attend additional training and development.

This policy is reviewed annually.

Privacy Notice

In accordance with the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR), New Pathways has implemented this privacy notice to inform our training contacts of the types of data we process about them. We also include within this notice the reasons for processing your data, the lawful basis that permits us to process it, how long we keep your data for and your rights regarding your data.

This notice applies to people who are currently on our database of training contacts.

A) DATA PROTECTION PRINCIPLES

Under GDPR, all personal data obtained and held by us must be processed according to a set of core principles. In accordance with these principles, we will ensure that:

- a) processing is fair, lawful and transparent
- b) data is collected for specific, explicit, and legitimate purposes
- c) data collected is adequate, relevant and limited to what is necessary for the purposes of processing
- d) data is kept accurate and up to date. Data which is found to be inaccurate will be rectified or erased without delay
- e) data is not kept for longer than is necessary for its given purpose
- f) data is processed in a manner that ensures appropriate security of personal data including protection against unauthorised or unlawful processing, accidental loss, destruction or damage by using appropriate technical or organisation measures
- g) we comply with the relevant GDPR procedures for international transferring of personal data

B) TYPES OF DATA HELD

New Pathways keeps certain data on people who have attended training or have expressed an interest in training, in order to carry out effective and efficient processes. We hold the data within our computer system.

Specifically, we hold the following types of data:

INTERNAL QUALITY ASSURANCE PROCEDURES – CPCAB Qualifications.

New Pathways recognises the importance of internal moderation and verification as an intrinsic part of their internal quality assurance process which ensures that qualifications are delivered according to CPCAB guidelines and to a common national standard.

New Pathways aims to apply good practice in internal quality assurance procedures at every stage of the planning, delivery, assessment and verification of a qualification. New Pathways is committed to providing a high-quality educational experience for all learners and the internal quality assurance procedures ensure that learners can feel confident about the standard of training that they will receive through New Pathways.

Internal quality assurance is an opportunity to identify areas for improvement, ensure consistency and further develop areas of strength.

The Internal Quality Assurer will work with the tutors and the course manager to develop and maintain assessment procedures and facilitate good practice. The Internal Quality Assurer will have a recognised IQA qualification but does not need to be a practising counsellor or subject specialist.

A minimum sample of 25% of the class group's internal assessments will be double marked by appropriately qualified and subject specialist tutors.

Each tutor will complete the normal feedback sheet and the results will be discussed between tutors before the work is returned to candidates. This process of internal moderation will ensure that assessment decisions are reliable, consistent and fair and to a national benchmark. The internal moderation process also ensures that the qualification requirements have been understood and the candidate has been given accurate and appropriate feedback.

The internal moderation process may include:

- Commenting on the standard and consistency of the assessment

- Reading and evaluating assessor's feedback to the candidate.
- Evaluating the tone of the feedback, looking for acknowledgement and support for the candidates.
- Ensuring that the assessor has given specific feedback to ensure the candidate knows what they have to do to meet the learning outcomes.

Centre proformas are used to facilitate all moderation and internal IQA processes.

STUDENT CODE OF CONDUCT POLICY

INTRODUCTION

New Pathways are committed to providing quality of standards for the counselling college experience for students, supporting equality, diversity, and inclusion. New Pathways Counselling College is committed to building a supportive environment for students, with a sense of student community, including through online platforms.

The code of conduct applies to students studying with the New Pathways Counselling College, this includes students who will be working on professional placements and work-based learning environments. This will also include any students who have been given bursaries or grants to fulfill study at New Pathways including in-house staff who may be learning through the counselling college.

In applying this Code, New Pathways counselling college seeks to comply with all relevant legislation promoting privacy, equality of opportunity and anti-discrimination.

STUDENT CODE OF CONDUCT

1. Students must observe and follow guidance provided in all other New Pathways policies and procedures relating to the Counselling College and placement, these can be found in appendices within the college handbooks and accessed during initial induction. This includes observing the placement policy and ensuring professional and ethical practice when on placement (please see placement policy).
2. All students are expected to be considerate of their fellow learners, visitors, and staff/tutors.
3. Students are to be mindful of other participants and differing learning needs and styles and communication modes and recognise how their individual behavior can impact other students and staff.
4. Students are expected to use all forms of spoken, written and digital communication, this would include digital media and communicating professionally and mindfully when also participating within online platforms. We offer extra support if needed with this.
5. New Pathways is not responsible for social media communication between students and would never pass on contact information of students without consent. Therefore, if students decide to create platforms of communication such as WhatsApp groups etc. between students this communication is not monitored by New Pathways and is at your own discretion and is the student's own responsibility.

6. New Pathways Counselling College has a duty of care to its staff and students and must be therefore informed and act upon any alleged criminal activity by its students. Failure to do so may be regarded as misconduct.
7. Students are expected to respect New Pathways properties and learning environments, and damage to property will not be acceptable. New Pathways expects all students to be mindful of the environment and this also includes unauthorised taking, or use of the property. Students must respect environments where New Pathways buildings accommodate clients and therefore professional conduct; being respectful of quiet areas (due to counselling or SARCs) which need to be adhered to. New Pathways buildings are all non-smoking premises, and this must be always adhered to.
8. Students are expected to attend 80% of their course content and must submit assignments in the expected time limit (unless mitigating circumstances have been approved). Students are expected to engage in activities such as peer feedback reviews and write up of these.
9. Students are to follow the New Pathways whistleblowing process if they have any concerns about peers, staff or organisations.
10. New Pathways Counselling College is committed to giving every support to help students complete their designated course, however failure to comply with the course expectations may result in being asked to leave the course.
