Welcome from our Chairperson

I am tremendously proud of the staff at New Pathways and the remarkable way in which they adapted to working during the pandemic.

Whilst our country was in lockdown, SARC services continued to operate, with our team working in full PPE, helping victims navigate the trauma of sexual assault. Meanwhile, with astonishing speed, the staff in our other services established remote and highly innovative ways of working. Training courses were delivered on-line, and clients were able to commence and continue with their counselling. Every person who needed to access our services was able to do so. It has been an astonishing achievement.

Before the pandemic, I was aware of how outstanding New Pathways is in terms of the impact of the work that it does. Of course, I was also aware of how amazing the team of people are who manage and work for the Charity. However, in the most difficult of circumstances, these extraordinary people absolutely exceeded my expectations. I am in awe of their dedication and professionalism. I sincerely thank them, and I feel extremely honoured to be associated with them.

Our Board of Trustees was strengthened this year with the recruitment of three highly talented individuals who have brought their skills and experience to help oversee the running of the organisation. They have already proved to be a great asset and have integrated seamlessly with our very able and hardworking existing Board members.

Finally, I would like to acknowledge our wonderful funders. We, at New Pathways, are completely determined to help the victims and survivors of sexual violence and we could not do this without the financial support we receive. I therefore offer my sincere thanks to every organisation that has given so generously during this exceptionally challenging time for us all.

Alison Smith

Chairperson, New Pathways

Our vision, values, and mission

Vision - New Pathways' Vision is 'A World Without Sexual Violence'.

Values - New Pathways' values include integrity, credibility, transparency, and professionalism which define the way we work.

Mission - Our charity's formal purposes as set out in the objects contained in the company's memorandum of association are to:

- relieve the trauma (whether psychological, emotional, or physical) of persons and their families who have been victims or otherwise suffered as a result of:
 - Rape, other sexual assault, or abuse; or
 - Physical assault or psychological or emotional abuse of any kind
- promote and participate in training, education, and research in relation to counselling and in the relation to the traumas set out opposite and their effect upon those affected.

Aims - Our charity's aims are therefore to

- Provide the best possible range and quality of support services for anyone who have experienced trauma or sexual violence, whether recently or in the past.
- · Promote education and research into the effects of sexual abuse; and
- Raise awareness of sexual violence amongst all sectors of society.

Our aims fully reflect the purposes that the Charity was set up to further.

The strategies employed by the Charity to enable it to meet these aims include, but are not limited to, the following:

- providing a range of services which are reflective of relevant quality standards, and which seek to address the problems related to trauma resulting from sexual assault.
- working in partnership with other agencies/bodies to secure the widest range of services available that best match the needs of its client population.

What we did

New Pathways provides a range of specialist counselling and advocacy services for anyone who has been affected by rape or sexual abuse. Our clients come from every walk of life and are of all ages. Twenty-eight years of successfully delivering services, and training professionals and the public alike, means that we are widely regarded throughout the UK as a leading organisation in our field.

Our Centres – The Charity provides counselling and support services from its head office at Merthyr Tydfil, with premises at Risca, Newport, Swansea, Carmarthen, Newtown and Cardiff, effectively covering most of south, east, west and mid Wales. Services also extend into Aberystwyth - provided by our subsidiary company, Mid Wales Rape Support Centre. Additionally, we provide counselling and support sessions via Skype, Teams and Zoom, as well as by telephone as required. This was particularly relevant during 2020, when face to face services were suspended; please see the Covid-19 Response section, on page 9.

Having secured new premises in Newport, Rothbury House, in the previous financial year, this continues to be renovated, and will eventually accommodate our counselling, advocacy, and training services in the Gwent region. Despite significant delays caused by the restrictions imposed as a result of Covid-19, work has restarted on this magnificent building, and we are confident it will be a centre that clients, staff and partners alike will love. We recognise the therapeutic benefits of surroundings when dealing with trauma, and we want this centre to be the very best it can be, for our service users.

Counselling Services – our long-established counselling services continued to grow during this period, with a large amount of sessional counselling being offered, in addition to our regular project work. A system for utilising a large bank of sessional counsellors had been developed the previous year and many sessions were delivered online. During 2020-21, 2,103 people were referred to our counselling services, but the restrictions imposed to control the spread of Covid-19 meant that we were unable to work face to face in the usual manner, so the learning from the previous year was useful.

Additional funding was secured to increase the number of counselling sessions being offered, with 14,317 counselling sessions being delivered. By utilising both sessional and contracted counsellors, all working remotely, the waiting lists for counselling were halved. Whilst being a significant achievement, there remained 1,818 people on our waiting lists throughout the regions, at the end of March 2021. A new service, the Wellbeing Service, was developed to help to support people waiting for counselling, see below.

Wellbeing Service – We were already aware that more support was need for people who were waiting for our counselling services, but additionally it was recognised that we needed to assess people's risks and needs more regularly and ensure that clients were ready and prepared to go into therapy. As we moved into a remote-working model in March 2020, our team developed a new service, The Wellbeing Service, which was implemented in September, offering clients tailor made approaches to support. We employed and trained a team of 12 Sexual Violence Support Workers (SVSWs) to offer a range of support options for clients. These include a brief support package, to ensure that clients are better prepared and ready for counselling, as well as a range of medium-term support packages. These support clients with a range of skills and strategies for trauma management and include practical inter-agency working, to help clients build stronger support systems for themselves.

This new service has helped to reduce our waiting lists for counselling significantly, which was one of the primary aims. SVSWs have seen significant changes in clinical scores for clients entering and exiting the service and counsellors have reported that clients who have accessed the Wellbeing Service prior to counselling have needed a reduced number of counselling sessions.

This service will be externally evaluated in the summer of 2021, and we anticipate that we will continue to 'fine tune' the project as we go along. 609 clients were supported through this service in 2020-21.

Outlook Project- We continue to have a counsellor in Parc Prison 3 days per week and take referrals from Probation services in all areas. We also support referrals from the National Probation Service in all our centres.

Sexual Assault Referral Centres (SARCS) - During 2020-21, the multi-agency works on the regionalisation agenda paused, with services continuing to run locally. A model for regionalisation had been agreed by all partners, and the plan had been to put this to the various Boards for sign off in December 2019. The process paused at this stage, and due to Covid-19 in March 2020, the discussions are not expected to proceed until mid-2021. New Pathways remain concerned that a regional model may negatively impact people using the service; victims of rape will have to travel out of area to access an acute forensic medical examination service, and with three centres merging into one main centre in Cardiff, there is potential for them to have to be triaged and wait for a service. We will continue to work with our partner organisations to ensure that the victim's voice is heard and that the best service possible is offered.

In the meantime, we continued to manage and run 6 of the 8 SARCs in Wales, with 1,175 people being referred for services during 2020-21.

LIBERATE: The anti human-trafficking project, LIBERATE, was last year supported by Comic Relief but was sadly brought to a close at the end of March 2020. New Pathways have, however, continued to carry out vital work supporting victims of Child Sexual Exploitation via our SARCs project. New Pathways are registered as First Responders for victims of trafficking, meaning we can refer people to the National Referral Mechanism. We have a dedicated Independent Sexual Violence Advocate (ISVA) on the SARC team, who previously worked on the LIBERATE Project and who is the single point of contact for the rest of team, to ensure the specialism and expertise is shared.

Training

As the devastation of Covid-19 unfolded during the first quarter of 2020, we feared that training would be almost impossible and that our training services would need to be put on hold. However, the team were able to move almost all of their courses online and the training department continued to expand, diversifying the type and range of courses and qualifications offered, adapting most to online delivery. Central to our work is ensuring that our staff and volunteers are trained to a high standard to be able to support clients with increasingly complex levels of trauma. During 2020-21, a full internal staff training schedule was implemented. This means that not only are all staff able to carry out their roles competently and safely, but also that their personal development and career progression is supported.

The range and number of external training courses delivered increased further still, many coproduced by people with lived experience. Where possible, we have also co-delivered training courses and workshops with clients or ex-clients too, and the response to these has been fantastic. This year also saw us deliver training courses for more partner organisations, and professionals from other sectors, than ever before. This aids our aim to raise awareness of sexual violence in general. During 2020 - 2021 we provided training to 3,816 people; this rises to 4,492 if viewings of our online training videos are included.

SURE for Mental Health

Funded by the Lottery, The SURE for Mental Health Project continued to provide fully funded mental health training for organisations and individuals throughout Wales, although the course content and delivery style were adapted in response to the move to remote working, due to Covid. SURE stands for "Support, Understand, Respond & Empower", and this is at the heart of what the project is about in terms of raising awareness and improving the response to people in our communities who are affected by poor mental health. This year the project concentrated on developing workshops and short courses that could be delivered online or via video, and many were coproduced and co-facilitated by people with lived experience.

There were 3816 direct beneficiaries of the SURE for Mental Health Project in 2020-21. Additionally, an extra 3508 beneficiaries received resources, Tip of the Day emails and recordings of webinars. The direct beneficiaries accessed a variety of events, including 265 webinars, 69 'BIG SURE EVENT' workshops (over 3 events), and 31 community groups. There were also 19 counselling clients and 609 people received welfare calls.

Covid-19

As awareness of an impending crisis increased throughout February, we realised that we needed to plan for the likelihood of impact on our services due to a pandemic.

Our Initial Response

In early March, we revisited our business continuity plans and evaluated them against the emerging crisis. As could be expected, we revised our existing plans and, for the first time in our history, had to consider that our service provision may have to cease. However, we have a very creative team, who are innovative and determined, and a service plan was quickly developed, that would allow us to move the majority of our services from a face-to-face basis to a remote one.

In the event, when we were required by Government to move to 'working from home where possible', we had already equipped our teams with the equipment and I.T. security necessary to enable them to access our systems online at home, and to be able to continue their counselling and advocacy sessions via phone or video calls. We are very proud to say that we did not miss a single day of service provision, as our incredible staff team worked hard to ensure they were contacting their clients throughout.

We have other services, specifically the acute forensic medical examinations at our SARCs, that of course could not be done remotely. Again, we moved quickly to make sure there was no break in service and PPE was sourced and used, enabling the continuation of the full SARC service.

These were unchartered and uncertain times, and people all over the world were frightened or apprehensive. It is therefore important that we recognise the dedication and strength of our SARC team, who did not hesitate to agree to continue supporting victims of rape through the SARC processes. We owe our Crisis Workers and ISVAs an enormous debt of gratitude.

Client Contact.

Initially, as soon as we became aware that we would need to work remotely, we prioritised contacting people who were either in-service with us already or were on our waiting lists, and did a risks, needs and preferences assessment. This allowed us to gauge who could access remote sessions safely, who may have had additional safeguarding requirements, etc. From this, our team were able to identify people who would benefit from regular welfare or check-in calls and those who may struggle to access remote services.

We soon realised that the vast majority of clients, after some gentle encouragement, were willing and able to continue their counselling or advocacy sessions by phone or online video call. There was a small core of clients who could not access services in this way, for example those who had no privacy at home, and we realised we needed to increase our welfare contact with them.

Wellbeing Service

The increased need to keep in contact with people waiting for our services led to the development of a new project, the Wellbeing Service. Clients who were placed 'on hold', as they felt unable to continue their counselling work remotely, still needed a service. So, we recruited a team of advocates, Sexual Violence Support Workers, who were able to contact clients regularly by phone where safe to do so, to 'check-in'. This pilot project showed that there was a need for regular contact with clients on our waiting lists, so that they knew they hadn't been forgotten and so that their changing risks and needs could be considered regularly.

Feedback from this pilot identified potential for the specialist Support Workers to undertake some psychoeducational work with the clients, and tailored courses were developed. These have proved to be very useful for clients and have actually reduced some of the demand on the counselling project. Many additional resources were also developed and distributed.

We have had this new service externally reviewed and will continue to make changes as we move forward, in response to feedback, but it is important to note that this is just one example of the innovation and creative approach that has been so impactful during Covid-19.

Team Welfare

The physical, psychological, and emotional well-being of our team was extremely important during this time. Gone were the chats at the coffee machine before starting work in the mornings; gone were the shared sandwiches at lunch or the colleague reminding you to take a break. Instead, our colleagues were just faces on a screen, or voices on the telephone; clients were sharing their trauma with us as always, but now we were hearing it in our own homes.

It was clear we had to think differently about our work patterns and our approach. To support our staff, we offered flexible working to help colleagues cope with the additional challenges they faced, such are caring responsibilities. Home-working equipment was provided, including I.T. equipment, desks, chairs, etc., and home-working allowance was paid. Regular online team catch-ups were put in place, teams meeting for 15 minutes before starting work, just to check in with each other. A staff survey indicated that our staff felt supported and valued, and that they felt able to give good service to our clients as a result.

Staff Wellbeing Initiative

It was clear that whilst the dedication and sheer determination of our staff teams, along with their care for their clients, meant that our services continued throughout, we needed to do more to make sure our amazing team stayed well and felt supported. So, a Staff Wellbeing Group was set up, made up of representatives of every team in the organisation. Throughout the latter half of the year, they met regularly and came up with a range of initiatives to reduce isolation for our team members, and importantly to allow time for social interaction and fun times.

The group came up with a whole range of initiatives from an online book club to duvet days; from online yoga to team quizzes; from flexible working to online lunch club. We will continue to run the Wellbeing Group throughout 2021-22 and beyond and will further develop the initiatives, as we recognise the importance of supporting our staff, and also the importance of 'team'.

My Journey - New Pathways

Is it true, they say the pen, is mightier, than the sharpest sword, through experience, it is, on that I give you my word

Ive been hit, punched, beaten and kicked, from this I recovered, the wounds left scars, but in time I was fixed

Words on the other hand, both those written and those spoken, have left me far worse off, Almost to the point of broken.

> These wounds inflicted, Have at times left me reeling, so many decades gone by, I still hurt, that's the feeling

I don't want the hate, anger and malevolence,
For the first time ever
I don't wanna feel indifference

All I needed, was a little help, but no-one did or could, because I kept it to myself.

Years later there came a time,
My deep dark demons burst into the light,
with this came the most horrible sign,
This on my own, I could not fight

Suddenly a helpless little boy again, but how and where to reach out, I just could not comprehend

New pathways I walked, still dark and so scary, but never alone, My ISVA support was unwavering

To those of you, who truly know what I'm saying, don't wait for the hounds of hell to come baying, Reach out for New Pathways, They will support you, in understanding what I'm saying

Garry

What is an I.S.V.A.

Four small insignificant letters. Company? Govt Dept?

Medical term? Computer?

Trust me, you're so wrong, and I say and mean this from the bottom of my heart, be glad, be thankful.

To those of us, who've been in need of their services, advice, support – without question, the term I.S.V.A means much more

The term itself, pretty self explanatory

Independant Sexual Violence Advocate

But these people are so much more than any term or definition you could tag them with, they do it all on top of dealing with their own problems, crisis, yet no matter how bad, they're there for you all the way

And when you reach a certain age of dealing with a crisis long since over, that rears its ugly head and wont go away till you take steps, ask for help and deal with it, then these are the people you need, and like me you would probably say "thank you" for joining me on the journey, no matter how rough it was.

And seeing it all the way with me

Thank you for your strength and unwavering belief, that we will get through it

Someone who comes into your life when your at you're worst and helps you through to become the best me you can be guiding, supporting us back to the life we can have

That's what those four small letters mean to me and people like me

I.S.V.A = Support Belief Strength

A World Without Sexual Violence

Staff Spotlight

I like working for New Pathways because the management are down to earth and understanding. I love to talk to service users and see their progress throughout our involvement. My colleagues are also always ready to lend a hand or offer advice, and genuinely care about others' wellbeing.

Why do you like working for New Pathways?

What are you most proud of achieving throughout the COVID pandemic?

I am proud of overcoming the steep learning curve that I was presented with whilst starting at New Pathways, especially whilst working from home. And I'm proud of getting out of the retail industry as this was a big aim for me.

I've also worked hard to improve my mental health, especially through lockdown and I continue to see the rewards from that work.

Lynsey - Administrator

Why do you like volunteering for New Pathways?

What are you most proud of achieving throughout the COVID pandemic?

Grant - Volunteer Counsellor

Why do you like working for New Pathways?

I've had the pleasure of working for New Pathways as an ISVA and more recently a Sexual Assault Services Co-ordinator for nearly 5 years and I can honestly say that I've loved every minute. Every day brings a variety of challenges due to the complexities of our clients, making every single minute so rewarding; knowing that I have done all that I can to make even the slightest difference to someone's life. I enjoy being part of an agency that works together as a team, providing continual support to all, with colleagues that are knowledgeable and dependable.

What are you most proud of achieving throughout the COVID pandemic?

My proudest achievement during COVID is becoming a Sexual Assault Services Co-ordinator, maintaining and enabling the SARC services to continue for clients during difficult times, when other businesses weren't able to.

Sam - Sexual Assault Services Co-ordinator

Why do you like working for New Pathways?

I love working with our clients and seeing the journey they go on in their process of healing and taking back control. I feel honoured to be a part of such a process, to witness amazing light bulb moments, creations, developments and discoveries that come through these therapeutic processes. I also love being part of something bigger: our clients are always at the heart, but beyond that we are breaking taboos, and making a difference in the wider context of abuse and rape not being acceptable in society. Breaking shame and building understanding of what it is like to be survivor and to allow spaces for the collective voice to be heard.

What are you most proud of achieving throughout the COVID pandemic?

I am most proud of the work with clients, seeing them move into new phases of their lives and being so unbelievably proud and humbled. Two things I am most proud of: firstly, the service user group, which has continued to run online throughout the pandemic. Seeing clients create new innovations through coproduction. It's been amazing to be part of creative projects and seeing client voices being heard through projects such as the theatre group and resource projects. Secondly, being part of creating our Trauma Stabilisation workbook that provides strategies to clients through digital platforms. They can access a wealth of information, working with their counsellor, support worker, family or on their own. It was incredible to work with past clients to create this tool that has been used throughout the pandemic to support clients.

Lil - Counsellor (Adults and Children) & Clinical Lead

Why do you like working for New Pathways?

I have been aware of the wonderful work done by New Pathways for many years and referred many past clients to the service for support and recovery. It is now amazing to be a part of that very service, to be able to provide support to those in need at a time when they need it most. New Pathways treats its staff like family and it is good to feel that you are supported valued and respected as a part of that family.

During the COVID pandemic, we all faced many challenges at a time when we were feeling vulnerable ourselves. As a person relatively new to training. I found the prospect of delivering training and support online rather daunting. However, I faced my fears and adapted and as a team we excelled ourselves. Reaching further than we had previously, making a real difference to how people felt. By dealing with this change and embracing it we supported and enhanced the wellbeing of many who attended the sessions. I am proud that I was able to adapt and that I was also able to be a source of support for my colleagues.

Helen - Trainer

Why do you like working for New Pathways?

I'm able to provide support to those who are vulnerable coming through the doors. I provide the necessary support to enable the clients to proceed through a process which can be mentally challenging to them. I know leaving each call out I have given my all to each and every client to put them at ease during a tough time. You never know who's going to walk through the door and it's so important to be able to gauge how the client is feeling. It's a very rewarding job.

What are you most proud of achieving throughout the COVID pandemic?

I'm proud that as an organisation we have been able to continue providing support to our clients even through the toughest of lockdowns, when we were told to stay at home and have no personal interaction with others. Us crisis workers were front line, and I'm proud of how we adapted to working with full PPE and putting further measures in place to ensure the safety of our clients who walk through our doors. We were still able to make them feel at ease - even whilst wearing masks where no facial expressions are able to be seen, and ensure everyone was safe!

Christie - Crisis Worker

Plans and objectives

for 2021-22

Delivering quality, accessible, sustainable, diverse services

As part of our business planning, we identified key priority areas and the coming year will see a focus on making headway with these initiatives: -

Diversity:

It is vital that our work is viewed in the wider context of societal change, not least the global conversation brought about by the #MeToo and the #BlackLivesMatter movements and the increasing number of cases of sexual violence and assault being brought to light in Wales, the UK and across the world. We are clear that we do not see diversity as another strand of our work upon which to focus, but rather as a thread that runs through everything we do. In 2021-22 we will be working on changes that impact our services, our planning, and our approach. We want to be accessible to more people from minoritised communities everywhere and we will be concentrating our efforts to make sure this is so.

Funding sustainable services

In order to achieve sustainable services and security of funding we will continue to diversify our activities and seek funding from a range of sources. We will further develop the organisation's training activity to generate increased income, helping to sustain our core activities.

We will establish a social enterprise, to help support our services in an increasingly challenging funding environment. In addition to the launch of the trauma informed, Level 5 Diploma in Counselling for Trauma last year, we will also be delivering a Level 4 Certificate in Trauma Counselling, which will mean that in future people will be able to train specifically to be a Counsellor in this field. We will use our learning from the enforced period of homeworking to further develop our online training, utilising various platforms and methods of remote delivery. In addition, over the coming two years we will increase our fundraising and work to widen our funder base to the commercial sector.

Delivering excellence

Providing a range of ways in which clients can more easily access our services has been a focus over the last few years and subsequently prioritised by the pandemic. Following the opening of our Cardiff and Swansea centres in the last few years, we look forward to bringing Rothbury House in Newport into operation as a key centre of our operation.

Following external evaluation, we will further develop our 'Wellbeing Service' to allow more clients to access immediate specialist support from Sexual Violence Support Workers, and to be referred into a much wider range of services, from psychoeducational groups to mental health community groups, from art therapy classes to telephone counselling. We will work to expand our outreach services further, with the aim of targeting those minoritized communities to whom we are not sufficiently accessible.

Next year, we will also be submitting applications for additional quality standards, to ensure that we are delivering excellent services, in line with our aims.

Securing ISVA Services

In light of the ongoing uncertainty around SARC services in Wales, the organisation is committed to continuing to have a fundamental role in the delivery of services and the support provided by ISVAs. Last year, we were awarded the Lime Culture ISVA Quality Standard. We were able to appoint additional ISVAs, who will maintain a high level of specialist training, and we developed Regional Coordinator roles. We also appointed ISVAs with additional knowledge in mental health, BAME, LGBTQIA and human trafficking, who are specialists within the general team, to act as single points of contact for all the ISVAs. To supplement this, next year we will also aim to establish a SARC Volunteer project to allow us to expand the support offered to victims of rape and serious sexual assault.

Using our voice

Recognised as the leading sexual violence support organisation in Wales and beyond, we have a responsibility to raise awareness of the prevalence and impact of sexual violence and assault amongst the public, the statutory and private sectors and specifically through working with the police, criminal justice system, local authorities and health boards and Government. Our voice will be used on behalf of our clients to bring about societal, structural, and legislative change where necessary. To do this we will further enhance relationships with the press, increase our use of social media, renew our website, and build on our annual sexual violence campaign.

Great client engagement:

We value the contribution made by our past and current clients who bring their voices and their experiences to influence and improve our services. We have already made co-production the norm and this year we will develop a Client Engagement Framework and Plan. We will continue to facilitate clients speaking at events, remotely if needed due to Covid restrictions. We will also concentrate on working with specific client groups: men, black and minority ethnic groups, older people and LGBTQIA+ to establish their needs and how these can be best met by targeting our services.

The Trustees confirm they have had regard to the Charity Commission's guidance on public benefit and that they comply with S17 Charities Act 2011 in respect of having due regard to public benefit when considering, planning, and implementing the activities of the Charity.

The Charity does not levy a charge for the counselling and support services it provides to clients, although individual voluntary contributions are accepted.

As Trustees, we believe that the aims of our Charity are charitable, and our services provide specifically for the public benefit. Furthermore, in our view, no detriment or harm arises from our Charity carrying out its aims and we are not aware of any widespread views among others that such detriment or harm might arise. The work undertaken, and issues addressed during the year ended 31st March 2021 to achieve and fulfil the aims of the Charity, is detailed above.

Organisational Structure

Trustee Board

The Trustee Board are the charity's Trustees and the legal directors of the company.

The Trustee Board has the responsibility for the governance and strategic direction of New Pathways, ensuring the charity upholds its ethos and values and delivers its key objectives.

The Trustees are drawn from a variety of professional backgrounds and the range of their experience and knowledge contributes significantly to the work and aims of the Charity. Members of the Board of Trustees serve a three-year term, after which they are eligible for re-election for a further three-year term.

Trustees are aware of their obligations as Trustees having all attended training on the Role of Trustees and on Governance.

Executive Management Team

Operational management of the organisation is delegated by the Trustees to the Chief Executive, who is accountable to the Trustee Board for its stewardship of the Charity. The Chief Executive is responsible for ensuring that the Charity delivers all services it provides to a high standard, that key performance indicators are being met and that the organisation is run effectively.

Trustees are kept fully informed of service developments and the financial position by means of the standing Chief Executive and Finance reports provided at Trustee meetings. Matters pertaining to the governance of the Charity are addressed in regular Board meetings and all decisions documented. The day-to-day responsibility for the Charity's provision of service is shared between the Chief Executive and Deputy Chief Executive. They retain overall responsibility for staff management, with a team of Senior Managers who report directly to them.

Key Management Remuneration

New Pathways set up a remuneration committee in 2014 to consider and report upon the framework and /or policy for remuneration, terms of employment and any changes, including service of contract, remuneration, policy and scope for pension arrangements, basis of bonus and bonus awards; incentive and benefit plans which may not be available to all employees and the targets for any performance related schemes.

Senior Management Team

Senior Managers are responsible for managing the various services that we provide and associated central functions. These Senior Managers cover Business Development, Sexual Assault Services, Counselling, Training and Research, Corporate Services and Finance.

Leadership Team

Additional management support is provided by our Leadership team, which includes Operational Managers, Safeguarding and Clinical Leads, Coordinators, Communications Lead, and a team of Counselling Supervisors who supervise the safe and ethical practice of the paid and Volunteer Counsellors.

Related Parties

It is important to good governance that trustees identify all related party transactions. There is a requirement on our Board of Trustees and senior management to disclose any related party transactions or conflicts of interest at regular board meetings and we confirm that there have been none recorded in this period. In 2020-21, trustees were not remunerated for their service to the Charity and claimed no expenses. No other benefits were identified. Trustees did not enter into any transactions with persons or entities that are closely connected to the charity or its trustees or senior management.

Partner Organisations

The Charity has long-standing links with voluntary and statutory bodies, including the Welsh Government, Home Office, Ministry of Justice, and the offices of Police & Crime Commissioners and National SARC groups. These are supplemented by links with the Centre of Expertise on Childhood Sexual Abuse; Universities across Wales; a growing number of Training Colleges across Wales; the Survivor's Trust, Welsh Women's Aid, Safer Wales, Hafan Cymru and BAWSO. We continue to enjoy good working relationships with PCC offices in Gwent, Dyfed Powys and South Wales and we are extremely grateful to them for their support.

As always, we continued to have a wide range of partners, both in the Third and Public sectors and we sit on many multi-agency, multi-sector boards and groups. We remain part of a formal regional consortium, partnering with Hafan Cymru, BAWSO, Swansea Women's Aid and Thrive Domestic Abuse. We also form informal partnership arrangements to collaborate on funding bids and projects.

We also have strong working links, with other organisations via multi-agency meetings and training sessions. We are members of many groups, including the various regional Violence against Women, Domestic Abuse and Sexual Violence Partnership Boards. During this period, we also sat on the multi-sector SARC Regionalisation Executive Board, and various sub-groups to this. We continue to contribute to numerous police groups in three police areas and various other Ministry of Justice, local and national Government consultation forums.

Health & Safety

We operate health and safety procedures that are 'fit for purpose' which keep our staff and clients safe. All our premises have Designated Site Managers responsible for Health and Safety in their buildings. The introduction of an online Health and Safety system has supported the effective management of Health and Safety, along with the appointment of a Corporate Services Manager to our senior management team, within whose remit this sits.

General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR)

In 2018-19, we put in place appropriate Information Governance to ensure we comply with the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR), which were effective from 25 May 2018. We reviewed every aspect of how we handle information relating to our beneficiaries, supporters, and staff, to ensure we are always clear and open about how we handle personal data and are taking necessary measures to keep it safe and secure.

Principal Risks and Uncertainties

The Trustees are responsible for ensuring the charity maintains a comprehensive risk management strategy and that appropriate actions are taken to manage and mitigate risks. A formal risk management register was introduced to manage risk across the charity which is prepared by the Chief Executive and overseen by the Trustees. Senior Managers review this on a regular basis.

Procedures are in place to eliminate any major risks to which the Charity may be exposed relating to the health and safety of staff, volunteers, clients and visitors to our centres, lone worker safety and client vulnerability. National Guidelines for the safety of SARC clients are also followed.

An indemnity insurance policy covers the Charity and its counsellors from professional risks.

Protocols ensuring safe authorisation of all financial transactions are in place. Our high number of funders and the wide differences in their individual funding periods requires careful monitoring and this is the subject of regular reports to Trustees. Any significant risks are reported to the Trustees by the Chief Executive.

Employees

We believe passionately in supporting our staff to develop and to support their aims in whatever way we can. To this end, we are committed to ensuring that there is open access to employment opportunities, training, rewards, and we strive to provide equality of opportunity for all employees. During the challenges of the Covid-19 situation, as we moved into the 2020-21 financial year, we tried harder than ever to ensure that our staff teams are not only physically safe, but emotionally supported too.

We continue to be fully committed to ensuring that all client-facing staff have regular professional clinical supervision, both for their own well-being and to ensure safe and ethical practice. We also provide access to an Employee Assistance Programme for all staff, through our contract with Peninsula, which ensures that they can access professional support if required, confidentially, either via telephone or face-to-face. The professional support provided by Peninsula in respect of all HR matters has been invaluable to the Charity over the year.

Our Board, Chief Officers and management team are committed to providing an environment where good team relations can grow and flourish, and we are often told that New Pathways is like a big family. Whilst retaining this 'family feel' is a challenge as we continue to grow and diversify, we are nonetheless committed to working this way, and ensuring that our open-door approach means that anyone in the entire teams feels they can approach anyone or be approached by them and will find support.

Financial review

The charity continues to operate within an environment of limited resources and insecurities over funding. However, the Charity, with the aid of sound financial management and the support of its staff, Trustees and volunteers generated a very positive financial outcome for the period with a net increase in funds of £431,824 (2020: £719,236).

The material surplus this year as in previous years reflects deferred funding received for expenditure that extends beyond the existing financial year.

We aim to generate a continuing surplus, to meet our financial obligations now and in the future. To this end we continue to take a proactive approach to sourcing funds that support our primary core purposes and this is reflected in our healthy year-end financial position at the year end.

Income

New Pathways has continued to benefit from the support of many statutory and charitable bodies. Details of the amounts received are shown in Note 14 to the Financial Statements, Total Incoming Resources; funders are listed in our 'thank you' list on page 25.

Income in the year of £3,112,269 has increased by £434,852 in comparison to 2020 through increases in funding for core activities plus an increase of £78,458 in trading activities which is an income area we are focussing on for future expansion. Our grant income continues to benefit from our long-standing relationship with The National Lottery Community Fund (formerly Big Lottery) that has seen a commitment from the Fund to 2022, plus ongoing support from the Welsh Government and Crime Commissioners in Wales.

Reserves

During the last twelve months, the Trustees have adopted a more formalised policy for Reserves. The policy restates the existing approach of holding a level of reserves that they consider suitable to allow the Charity to meet its day-to-day requirements in order to ensure counselling and advocacy services for its users can be continued without interruption should any funding difficulties (or delays) be experienced. The Trustees have considered the sum of the risks outlined and believe that it is appropriate to maintain free reserves at a level that would support our operations for a six-month period. The 2020-21 targeted reserves were £535,879 (2020: £979,090). The actual free reserves were £532,714. (2020: £365,352). This increase represents the agreed policy of increasing the actual free reserves to the target level over a 5 year period.

The result for the year is comprised of the net movement in restricted and unrestricted funds. As can be seen on the SoFA, the level of restricted fund reserves at the year end was £1,899,815 (2020: £1,645,552).

The charity on its own generated a surplus of £431,824 (2020: £719,236).

The balance sheet for the charity is strong with there being net assets available of £2,881,054 (2020: £2,449,230). The strength of the balance sheet is largely underpinned by large cash balances available of £1,091,513 (2020: £870,080), together with substantial capital assets of £1,893,359 (2020: £1,743,876).

Designated funds

The charity has total designated funds of £448,525 (2020 £438,326). Details of these funds are included in Note 21 to the financial Statements. The following additional designated funds have been identified during the year: -

SV Services Shortfall (£56,234), to cover salary costs within the Wellbeing Service.

Marketing Shortfall (£15,750), to cover development and marketing of New Pathways' services

Rothbury Refurbishment (£55,000), to cover development of the Rothbury Premises.

Salary Uplift (80,000), to cover a salary uplift for all staff, as a result of a salary review.

Counselling Services Employment Costs (£38,000), to cover a currently unfunded Head of Therapeutic Services position.

Staff Training (£10,000), to invest in training needs across all staff.

Covid-19 Response (£50,000) to cover unexpected costs and long-term financial implications from the COVID-19 outbreak.

Financial Outlook

The Trustee Board has agreed the business and financial strategies and plans proposed by the Senior Leadership Team. An Annual Budget is produced and reviewed on a quarterly basis.

The Charity plans to continue its core activities outlined above in the forthcoming years, subject to satisfactory funding arrangements. We do, however, recognise the continuing challenges presented by reduced public sector investment in the voluntary sector, the overall economic position and the significant and increasing demand for our services.

The impact of COVID-19 has had a material impact on both the demand for our services and the form of delivery over the last financial year. We have been successful over the past 12 months in securing additional short term funding but the risk remains that this will impact on the availability of funding in the medium term.

Plans continue to be developed for a number of new initiatives including the establishment of a social enterprise, initially to deliver our training programme and to sell our children's book "Helping the Hare who Hurts". The social enterprise is planned to start trading in 2021/22 and will contribute to the increased trading income projected for that year.

These factors combine to put New Pathways in a strong position to continue and expand our work, with the continuing, vital support of our funders.

Statement of responsibilities of Trustees

The Trustees are responsible for preparing the Trustees' Annual Report and the Trustees (who are also the directors of New Pathways Family Friendly Therapeutic Centre of excellence for the purposes of company law) are responsible for preparing the Report of the Trustees and the financial statements in accordance with applicable law and United Kingdom Accounting Standards (United Kingdom Generally Accepted Accounting Practice).

Company law requires the Trustees to prepare financial statements for each financial year, which give a true and fair view of the state of affairs of the charitable company and of the incoming resources and application of resources, including the income and expenditure, of the charitable company for that period. In preparing those financial statements, the Trustees are required to:

- Select suitable accounting policies and then apply them consistently; observe the methods and principles in the Charity SORP.
- Make judgements and estimates that are reasonable and prudent.
- Prepare the financial statements on the going concern basis unless it is inappropriate to presume that the charitable company will continue in business.

The Trustees are responsible for keeping proper accounting records, which disclose with reasonable accuracy at any time the financial position of the charitable company and to enable them to ensure that the financial statements comply with the Companies Act 2006. They are also responsible for safeguarding the assets of the charitable company and hence for taking reasonable steps for the prevention and detection of fraud and other irregularities.

STATEMENT AS TO DISCLOSURE OF INFORMATION TO AUDITORS

So far as the Trustees are aware, there is no relevant information (as defined by Section 418 of the Companies Act 2006) of which the charitable company's auditors are unaware, and each trustee has taken all the steps that they ought to have taken as a trustee in order to make them aware of any audit information and to establish that the charitable company's auditors are aware of that information.

AUDITORS

The auditors, Baker Knoyle Chartered Accountants, will be proposed for re-appointment at the forthcoming Annual General Meeting.

Report of the Trustees, incorporating a strategic report, approved by order of the board of Trustees, as the company directors on 23rd November 2021 and signed on the board's behalf by:

Alison Smith

Chair of Board of Trustees

Regardless of the size of our organisation, we aim to keep New Pathways as one big family who all pull together to make a positive difference to people affected by rape and sexual abuse. Teamwork is the thing that makes this possible, and once again this year, we would like to thank each and every person in our team, including: -

- the amazing, talented people who have worked with us, sharing our passion and commitment to support people through the most difficult time in their lives.
- everyone who has volunteered their valuable time and skills to help the organisation go from strength to strength and help so many people each year.
- our funders, who have shared our vision and supported us financially, and without whom New Pathways could not continue to provide our vital, specialist services. (For list of funders and supporters see page 20).
- our partners in other organisations and other sectors, who stand side by side with us to support our communities.

But above all else, thank you to those who have bravely come forward and sought help from New Pathways.

REPORT OF THE INDEPENDENT AUDITORS TO THE MEMBERS OF NEW PATHWAYS FAMILY FRIENDLY THERAPEUTIC CENTRE OF EXCELLENCE (REGISTERED NUMBER: 06701013)

Opinion

We have audited the financial statements of New Pathways Family Friendly Therapeutic Centre of excellence (the 'charitable company') for the year ended 31 March 2021 which comprise the Statement of Financial Activities, the Balance Sheet, the Cash Flow Statement and notes to the financial statements, including a summary of significant accounting policies. The financial reporting framework that has been applied in their preparation is applicable law and United Kingdom Accounting Standards (United Kingdom Generally Accepted Accounting Practice), including Financial Reporting Standard 102 'The Financial Reporting Standard applicable in the UK and Republic of Ireland'.

In our opinion the financial statements:

- give a true and fair view of the state of the charitable company's affairs as at 31 March 2021 and of its incoming resources and application of resources, including its income and expenditure, for the year then ended;
- have been properly prepared in accordance with United Kingdom Generally Accepted Accounting Practice, including Financial Reporting Standard 102 'The Financial Reporting Standard applicable in the UK and Republic of Ireland'; and
- have been prepared in accordance with the requirements of the Companies Act 2006.

Basis for opinion

We conducted our audit in accordance with International Standards on Auditing (UK) (ISAs (UK)) and applicable law. Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the Auditors' responsibilities for the audit of the financial statements section of our report. We are independent of the charitable company in accordance with the ethical requirements that are relevant to our audit of the financial statements in the UK, including the FRC's Ethical Standard, and we have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities in accordance with these requirements. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion.

Conclusions relating to going concern

In auditing the financial statements, we have concluded that the trustees' use of the going concern basis of accounting in the preparation of the financial statements is appropriate.

Based on the work we have performed, we have not identified any material uncertainties relating to events or conditions that, individually or collectively, may cast significant doubt on the charitable company's ability to continue as a going concern for a period of at least twelve months from when the financial statements are authorised for issue.

Our responsibilities and the responsibilities of the trustees with respect to going concern are described in the relevant sections of this report.

Other information

The trustees are responsible for the other information. The other information comprises the information included in the Annual Report, other than the financial statements and our Report of the Independent Auditors thereon.

Our opinion on the financial statements does not cover the other information and, except to the extent otherwise explicitly stated in our report, we do not express any form of assurance conclusion thereon.

In connection with our audit of the financial statements, our responsibility is to read the other information and, in doing so, consider whether the other information is materially inconsistent with the financial statements or our knowledge obtained in the audit or otherwise appears to be materially misstated. If we identify such material inconsistencies or apparent material misstatements, we are required to determine whether this gives rise to a material misstatement in the financial statements themselves. If, based on the work we have performed, we conclude that there is a material misstatement of this other information, we are required to report that fact. We have nothing to report in this regard.

Opinions on other matters prescribed by the Companies Act 2006

In our opinion, based on the work undertaken in the course of the audit:

- the information given in the Report of the Trustees for the financial year for which the financial statements are prepared is consistent with the financial statements; and
- the Report of the Trustees has been prepared in accordance with applicable legal requirements.

REPORT OF THE INDEPENDENT AUDITORS TO THE MEMBERS OF NEW PATHWAYS FAMILY FRIENDLY THERAPEUTIC CENTRE OF EXCELLENCE (REGISTERED NUMBER: 06701013)

Matters on which we are required to report by exception

In the light of the knowledge and understanding of the charitable company and its environment obtained in the course of the audit, we have not identified material misstatements in the Report of the Trustees.

We have nothing to report in respect of the following matters where the Companies Act 2006 requires us to report to you if, in our opinion:

- adequate accounting records have not been kept or returns adequate for our audit have not been received from branches not visited by us; or
- the financial statements are not in agreement with the accounting records and returns; or
- certain disclosures of trustees' remuneration specified by law are not made; or
- we have not received all the information and explanations we require for our audit; or
- the trustees were not entitled to take advantage of the small companies exemption from the requirement to prepare a Strategic Report or in preparing the Report of the Trustees.

Responsibilities of trustees

As explained more fully in the Statement of Trustees' Responsibilities, the trustees (who are also the directors of the charitable company for the purposes of company law) are responsible for the preparation of the financial statements and for being satisfied that they give a true and fair view, and for such internal control as the trustees determine is necessary to enable the preparation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the financial statements, the trustees are responsible for assessing the charitable company's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless the trustees either intend to liquidate the charitable company or to cease operations, or have no realistic alternative but to do so.

Our responsibilities for the audit of the financial statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue a Report of the Independent Auditors that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with ISAs (UK) will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these financial statements.

Irregularities, including fraud, are instances of non-compliance with laws and regulations. We design procedures in line with our responsibilities, outlined above, to detect material misstatements in respect of irregularities, including fraud. The extent to which our procedures are capable of detecting irregularities, including fraud is detailed below:

- We identified areas of laws and regulations that could reasonably be expected to have a material effect on the financial statements from our sector experience through discussion with the Officers and other management (as required by auditing standards).
- We had regard to laws and regulations in areas that directly affect the financial statements including financial reporting (including related trade union legislation) and taxation legislation. We considered that extent of compliance with those laws and regulations as part of our procedures on the related financial statement items.
- With the exception of any known or possible non-compliance, and as required by auditing standards, our work in respect of these was limited to enquiry of the Officers.
- We communicated identified laws and regulations throughout our team and remained alert to any indications of non-compliance throughout the audit.
- We addressed the risk of fraud through management override of controls, by testing the appropriateness of journal entries and other adjustments; assessing whether the judgements made in making accounting estimates are indicative of a potential bias; and evaluating the business rationale of any significant transactions that are unusual or outside the normal course of business.

Our audit procedures were designed to respond to risks of material misstatement in the financial statements, recognising that the risk of not detecting a material misstatement due to fraud is higher than the risk of not detecting one resulting from error, as fraud may involve deliberate concealment by, for example, forgery, misrepresentations or through collusion. There are inherent limitations in the audit procedures performed and the further removed non-compliance with laws and regulations is from the events and transactions reflected in the financial statements, the less likely we are to become aware of it.

A further description of our responsibilities for the audit of the financial statements is located on the Financial Reporting Council's website at www.frc.org.uk/auditorsresponsibilities. This description forms part of our Report of the Independent Auditors.

Use of our report

This report is made solely to the charitable company's members, as a body, in accordance with Chapter 3 of Part 16 of the Companies Act 2006. Our audit work has been undertaken so that we might state to the charitable company's members those matters we are required to state to them in an auditors' report and for no other purpose. To the fullest extent permitted by law, we do not accept or assume responsibility to anyone other than the charitable company and the charitable company's members as a body, for our audit work, for this report, or for the opinions we have formed.

1. ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Basis of preparing the financial statements

The financial statements of the charitable company, which is a public benefit entity under FRS 102, have been prepared in accordance with the Charities SORP (FRS 102) 'Accounting and Reporting by Charities: Statement of Recommended Practice applicable to charities preparing their accounts in accordance with the Financial Reporting Standard applicable in the UK and Republic of Ireland (FRS 102) (effective 1 January 2019)', Financial Reporting Standard 102 'The Financial Reporting Standard applicable in the UK and Republic of Ireland' and the Companies Act 2006. The financial statements have been prepared under the historical cost convention.

The charity is controlled by its governing document, a deed of trust, and constitutes a limited company, limited by guarantee, as defined by the Companies Act 2006. The incorporated charity is registered in England and Wales.

Income

All income is recognised in the Statement of Financial Activities once the charity has entitlement to the funds, it is probable that the income will be received and the amount can be measured reliably.

The following specific policies are applied:

Voluntary Income

Voluntary income is income received by way of grants, gifts or donation. These are included in full on receipt unless it is subject to a condition when it is treated as deferred income.

Deferred Income

Income or grants received in advance are held as deferred income and carried forward to future accounting periods to be released when the defined purpose of the work or project have been completed, approved or certified.

Gifts in Kind

Gifts in kind are included in the income and expenditure account where they are applied in carrying out charitable activities, where the company would otherwise have to purchase the donated facility and the benefit is both quantifiable and material. The quantifiable benefit is shown as both incoming and expended resources within the appropriate funds. Where the gift is an asset it is treated as income and taken to stock or fixed assets as appropriate.

The value of services provided by volunteers is not quantified.

Investment Income

Investment income is included when receivable.

Trading Income

Trading Income is recognised when earned.

Expenditure

Liabilities are recognised as expenditure as soon as there is a legal or constructive obligation committing the charity to that expenditure, it is probable that a transfer of economic benefits will be required in settlement and the amount of the obligation can be measured reliably. Expenditure is accounted for on an accruals basis and has been classified under headings that aggregate all cost related to the category. Where costs cannot be directly attributed to particular headings they have been allocated to activities on a basis consistent with the use of resources.

Expenditure includes any VAT which cannot be fully recovered.

Costs of Raising Funds

Costs of generating funds include the costs associated with attracting voluntary income and the costs of trading for fundraising purposes.

1. ACCOUNTING POLICIES - continued

Expenditure

Charitable Expenditure

Charitable expenditure comprises those costs incurred by the charity in the delivery of its activities and services for its beneficiaries. It includes the costs that can be attributed directly to those activities and those costs of an indirect nature necessary to support them.

Governance Costs

Governance costs include those costs associated with meeting the constitutional and statutory requirements of the charity and include audit fees, costs relating to the strategic management of the charity, management of assets and organisational administration.

All Expenditure

All expenditure is allocated between the categories of the SoFA on a basis designed to reflect the use of the resource. Costs relating to a particular activity are allocated directly, others are apportioned between categories on a basis that fairly reflects their usage.

Tangible fixed assets

Depreciation is provided at the following annual rates in order to write off each asset over its estimated useful life.

Freehold property

- 2% on cost

Improvements to property

- 10% on cost

Plant and machinery

- 20% on cost

Taxation

The charity is exempt from corporation tax on its charitable activities.

Fund accounting

Unrestricted funds can be used in accordance with the charitable objectives at the discretion of the trustees.

Restricted funds can only be used for particular restricted purposes within the objects of the charity. Restrictions arise when specified by the donor or when funds are raised for particular restricted purposes.

Further explanation of the nature and purpose of each fund is included in the notes to the financial statements.

Pension costs and other post-retirement benefits

The charitable company makes pension contributions into employees personal pension schemes. Contributions payable are charged to the Statement of Financial Activities in the period to which they relate.

Leased Assets

Fixed assets acquired under finance leases are included in the balance sheet at historic cost less accumulated depreciation. The present value of future rentals is shown as a liability. Interest payable in each period is charged as an expended resource in proportion to the amount outstanding under the lease. Operating lease rentals are charged as expended resources as incurred.

Tangible assets

Tangible fixed assets are included in the balance sheet at historic cost less accumulated depreciation. Grant receipts which fund fixed asset acquisitions are taken to restricted funds and the appropriate depreciation charge is made against those funds over the expected useful life of the asset.

Debtors and creditors receivable/payable within one year

Debtors and creditors with no stated interest rate and receivable or payable within one year are recorded at transaction price.
